

A free and independent media is absolutely necessary to democracy. The continued consolidation of major TV, radio and print outlets has already severely damaged freedom of expression in this country. I strongly oppose loosening the rules in such a way that allows this consolidation to go any further.